The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

WHETHER the all-out bombing of Berlin and the land offensives in Russia and Italy preface some great Allied diplomatic move to try to force capitulation of the Axis, as London and other capitals seem to think, there's small doubt that we are witnessing the death of Berlin—the first city of its size thus to perish.

Destruction of the German capital from the air will be a military and psychological coup unique in war. Smaller cities have been wiped out, but nothing approaching the vast metropolises of four millions.

Today for the first time the Hitlerites admit that British and American bombers may "lay all Berlin waste." George Schroeder, chief correspondent of Europa Press, who writes under Nazi Propaganda Minister Joe Goebbels' direction, minces no words in conceding the grim prospect.

The devil himself, being about ready to exact the price for the bill of goods he sold henchman Hitler, must have smiled grimly when he read in the Fuehrer's own newspaper, "Volkischer Beobachter," an item of gloomy finality, advising the people of the stricken city how to write their last wills and testaments.

When you stop to think about it, that's one of the most remarkable

MOORE NAMED BRICKER AIDE

Canon Publisher Will Direct Governor's Presidential Campaign

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—Roy D. Moore of Canton, vice president and general manager of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, will direct Gov. John W. Bricker's national campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, the governor announced today.

Bricker said Moore was resigning as ex executive head of the U. S. Treasury War Savings staff in Ohio, a position he has held since 1941, and would take charge of national headquarters here at once.

Moore, in accepting the assignment, said:

"I relish the prospect of a campaign in the true spirit of American freedom. I have known Gov.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—Mrs. Robert S. Beightler, wife of the commander of the 37th Division now in the Southwest Pacific, will be receptionist at Gov. John W. Bricker's national presidential campaign headquarters, the governor said today.

Bricker for 20 years. He will be our next president."

Bricker said Moore's assistant would be State Senator Evert E. Addison of Columbus.

Moore has spent 35 of his 56 years in newspaper work.

He was born on a farm near McArthur, O., Aug. 25, 1887, and became a telegrapher while employed as a messenger at Middleport, O. He operated a railroad wire in his early teens and became a press telegrapher for The Associated Press at Cleveland in 1908.

Later he was with the Cleveland Leader and the Cleveland News and assumed management of the Columbus bureau of International News Service shortly after covering the Dayton flood in 1913.

Later he was promoted to management of the Chicago bureau and in 1915 took charge of sales for King Features Syndicate and International News Service in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois. He became assistant to the general manager of King Features at New York in 1920.

JAP CRUISER HIT SQUARELY BY BIG BOMB

Resulting Explosion Is Believed To Have Sunk Ship In Pacific

(By Associated Press)
The probable sinking of a Japanese cruiser, reports of 2,000 enemy dead on Bougainville island and intensified aerial activity highlighted a busy weekend in the Southwest Pacific theater of war while construction crews moved into the newly-won Gilberts to the northeast.

A Liberators heavy bomber patrolling St. George channel between New Britain and New Ireland islands Friday night dropped a 1,000-pound bomb squarely on the Jap cruiser, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported.

The bomb pierced the ship's armor and exploded inside with a flash that lighted up the night sky. It was the 49th enemy warship sunk or damaged in the northern Solomons during November. While General MacArthur describes the cruiser as "light," returning fliers said it was one of the medium class of 12,000 to 15,000 tons displacement.

1,000 Dead Japs Listed

A spokesman for Adm. William F. Halsey, South Pacific fleet commander, reported more than 1,000 Japanese killed in a 10-day battle on Bougainville, invaded at Empress Augusta bay by U. S. Marines Nov. 1. This, he said, brought to 2,000 the number of enemy dead in fighting for that largest of the Solomon islands. Our dead and wounded combined were given as 1,000.

Allied bombers carried out their most extensive operations in weeks. Eight key Japanese positions were assaulted.

Liberators left 105 tons of bombs on enemy installations on Buka island off the northern tip of Bougainville, and Mitchell mediums followed with bombing and strafing. Buin, at the southeastern tip of Bougainville, took a 71-ton bombing from torpedo and dive bombers. Mitchells, covered by Lightning fighters, attacked the Wewak and Boram airfields in northeastern New Guinea, destroying at least five aircraft on the ground and damaging some 25 others. Beaufort attackers hit Rabaul on New Britain.

5 Enemy Barges Sunk

P-T boats sank five barges loaded with 200 Japanese troops and artillery in Vitiaz strait, between New Guinea and New Britain.

Ten enemy bombers with a screen of 15 fighters caused some damage to Allied positions at Finschhafen, New Guinea, but were intercepted.

Defectives Called In On McCoy Case; May Offer Reward

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Nov. 29.—Fayette county officials prepared today to offer a reward and call in detectives to hasten solution of the triple murder of the Elmer McCoy family as a jittery countryside urged quick action in fear of further slayings.

One county commissioner reported "the whole county is jittery. Several persons have told me they are afraid to go out to their barns after dark, and a lot of them have that 'we may be next' attitude."

He and one of the other two commissioners said they would offer a reward at their regular meeting tonight, hoping to help find the killer or killers of McCoy, 59-year-old wealthy hog breeder. Mrs. Forrest McCoy, 64, and their daughter Mildred, 22, a school teacher.

Their bodies were found Thanksgiving morning by a tenant farmer, Dewey Clayton. McCoy had been killed by a pistol shot in the back of his head, apparently where his body lay in the barn. His wife's body sprawled on a screened porch, bore wounds from at least one 38 caliber bullet and five 32 caliber bullets. Their daughter's body lay beside her automobile in the driveway.

War Offensives Foreseen As Setting The Stage For Momentous Developments

By JUDSON O'QUINN
Associated Press Writer

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Simultaneously stepped up offensives on three sides of Adolf Hitler's European fortress suggested possibility today that the stage is being set for a momentous war development—probably in the diplomatic field—believed both in London and abroad to be imminent.

Intensified Allied aerial assaults on Germany from British bases, an accelerated Soviet drive into White Russia and a spurt in the Italian campaign coincided with continued reports from abroad hinting at a meeting between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin and perhaps representatives of at least three other nations.

In connection with these reports, the Daily Telegraph declared in a dispatch from Switzerland there is a general feeling there that the "Big Three" may be planning some kind of dramatic announcement—such as a last warning to Germany before launching a grand invasion of western Europe.

But an even more history-making event of worldwide scope—involving

HERBERT SEEKS GOVERNORSHIP

Attorney General Announces Candidacy, Pledges Bricker Support

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert today announced his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, the third to enter the party race since Gov. John W. Bricker said he would not run for a third term while seeking the presidential nomination.

Mayor James Garfield Stewart became a candidate two weeks ago and Lieut. Gov. Paul M. Herbert said he would announce formally soon. State Treasurer Don H. Ebright also may seek the nomination.

Herbert pledged full support to Bricker.

"In seeking to succeed him as governor—an ambition which I have cherished for considerable time," Herbert said in a prepared statement, "I earnestly ask that my record, both private and public, be closely scrutinized as my candidacy will be based chiefly upon that record."

He added he was satisfied "my service as legal adviser to all departments of state government, preceded by eight years as an assistant and special counsel in that office" had fitted him to execute the duties of the governorship.

The 46-year-old candidate is serving his third term as attorney general. He was elected president of the National Association of Attorneys General last year.

A native of Cleveland, he left his studies at Western Reserve university law school to enlist in the Air corps in the first World war and subsequently was awarded both the American and British distinguished flying crosses. He also received the Purple Heart after he was wounded and shot down in aerial combat over France.

Herbert is married and has three children, Metta, 20, now in the school of nursing at Ohio State university; Daniel, 19, in the armed forces, and John, 13.

Truck Plows Into Lincoln Ave. Home

Residents at 627 N. Lincoln ave. were rudely awakened at 3:20 a. m. Sunday when a truck driven by Harvey Clarence Kibler of R. D. 1, Columbiana, hurtled the curb and struck the front of the house, owned by Mrs. Helen Brumbaugh and her sister, Miss Elsie Thomas.

The driver told police he must have fallen asleep. He was unhurt.

The truck, enroute south with a load of newspapers, narrowly missed several trees and a telephone pole and crashed into the front of the house. The impact shattered a front window, splintered siding and knocked loose the cement block foundation.

FIRST RUMBLINGS OF STORM THAT SWEEPS ON JAPAN

FROM DELHI, where military unity is finally established and the admiralty flag of Lord Louis Mountbatten now waves, to the tiny dots that mark the Marshall Islands, the rumbling of approaching storm echoes loudly throughout Nippon. This map gives a comprehensive idea of places and events in the forefront at the moment, as well as the targets for tomorrow. At the right, the arrow from the Mountbatten quarters indicates that internal frictions have been smoothed out and Lord Mountbatten has achieved a conglomerate but unified collection of Hindus, Chinese, British, Yankee and assorted races. At right the island-hopping campaign is getting under way with the Marshalls, current goal, indicated by arrow. In China arrow points to air base regions from which attacks on Formosa have been staged. Nearby is the vast "rice bowl" area of China, scene of much fighting. The thrust through Burma and the jungle belts is beginning and there are indications that Mountbatten has his eye on other invasion areas indicated by arrows in the lower left. (International)

RENEWS APPEAL FOR NEW TAXES

Morgenthau Says House Revenue Measure Falls Short of Requirements

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Secretary Morgenthau renewed his virtually hopeless demand for $10,500,000,000 in new taxes today by telling the senate finance committee the $2,140,000,000 house revenue measure "falls far short even of an attempt to meet out fiscal needs in a realistic or courageous way."

In the face of an assertion by Chairman George D. (Go.) that it will be impossible to enact a bill varying greatly from the principles of the house measure, the Treasury chief said the committee of "the stupendous bill which this war will leave behind" and declared:

"If we pay in taxes any less than we can now afford to pay we shall be unfair to those who must face the accumulated bill after the war has been fought and won."

We shall not only be asking the 10,000,000 members of the armed forces to give the most important years of their lives to fight the war. We shall also be requiring them to pay in taxes after the war what we could and should have paid while they were fighting."

Morgenthau said the Treasury

E. FAIRFIELD HOME LEVELED BY FIRE

The four-room cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lutsch, near the Fairfield Centralized school, and all its contents were destroyed by fire just before noon Sunday while the Lutsch family was attending church.

Loss is estimated at $5,000, with no insurance. The fire also destroyed gifts purchased Saturday during a Christmas shopping tour by Mr. and Mrs. Lutsch and their two children, with neighbors, had left the church and started home when they saw the blazing dwelling. They called the Columbiana fire department, but the flames were out of control before firemen could reach the scene.

It was impossible to determine the cause of the blaze, but Lutsch believes a heating stove may have been at fault.

Within the last few months Lutsch had completely shingled his home, installed storm windows, bought new furniture and linoleum and completed other improvements.

Parents Told Gunner-Son Killed In European Raid

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 29.—The War department today notified Mr. and Mrs. Gail Richmond that their son, Staff Sgt. Gail A. Richmond, Jr., aerial gunner on a bomber, was killed in action Nov. 19 during a raid in the European theater of war.

A steelworker at Midland, Pa., prior to his enlistment in October, 1942, he had been overseas since July. Besides his parents, a brother and three sisters survive.

Look's Like No Parade For French War Lasses

ALGIERS, Nov. 29.—When units of the French army's feminine auxiliaries next go on parade they'll attract a lot of attention if they wear their American-made uniforms.

Under a lease-lend agreement whereby the United States is supplying the French "WACS" with uniforms, a cargo of 5,000 blouses, but no skirts, arrived recently.

The skirts are on another ship somewhere in the Atlantic.

Plane With 13 Nurses On Board Is Missing

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 29.—Thirteen United States Army nurses have been missing since Nov. 8 when a transport plane in which they were flying from Africa to the east coast of Italy overshoot its destination in bad weather.

The last word from the plane was a message received while it presumably was over the Adriatic.

The nurses were attached to an air evacuation unit. The next of kin have been notified.

Yank Airmen Trail British Into Germany

LONDON, Nov. 29.—American heavy bombers supported by fighters attacked targets in northwest Germany today on the heels of an overnight attack on western Germany by the RAF.

While the American heavy bombers were continuing the stepped up, big scale destruction of German war centers, twin-engine American Marauders also streaked out over the channel today to blast at Hitler's air power in a raid on the Nazi airfield at Chievres, in Belgium.

The blows directed against Germany both last night and today were in bold defiance of German threats of reprisals for last week's attacks on Berlin, said to have left a third of the Nazi capital in ruins.

Objectives of the night or day raids were not announced immediately, but a British statement said the night raiders were Mosquitos.

Offensive To Expand

The new blow followed disclosure that approximately $2,500,000,000 is being spent to expand the mighty British-American aerial offensive from Britain.

Of the total, the Air Ministry news service said, about $552,000,000 will be spent on airfields and depots for the U. S. Eighth air force. Maj. Gen. William E. Kepner, Eighth air force fighter command chief, declared German air power definitely is growing weaker as the might of the Allies increases.

"The enemy can fight back cleverly with limited resources," he said in a broadcast to the United States, "but he can't win against the hammer blow of an air force which will continue to grow while his is wiped out."

"The fact is, our pilot's morale is getting higher while the German pilot's morale has nowhere to go but downhill. Already we can see the Germans weakening in the air whenever the weather permits us to carry out sustained operations."

Jaycees Make Plans To Provide Holiday Gifts For Orphans

Arrangements for the annual Christmas party for children at the Fairmount home have been announced by the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee, headed by Albert Hanna and Rudolph Linder.

This year gifts for the youngsters will not be solicited from the public. Instead, interested individuals, church classes and other groups will be asked to select a number of names from a list of the 300 children at the home and to provide the gifts they have asked for. The list of names and articles will be available at the Red Cross office and when the presents have been purchased, gift-wrapped and marked, donors are asked to leave them at the Red Cross office. Junior Chamber of Commerce members will distribute them at the home.

The list-plan has been arranged to eliminate duplication of gifts, to give each child the things he most wants, the committee explains, pointing out that the articles the young people have listed are practical and reasonable.

Service clubs and lodges will be asked for donations of money to be used to provide a milk pasteurization equipment for the home.

Alliance, Carpenters, Masons and East Liverpool Junior Chambers of Commerce are participating in the project.

East Liverpool Soldier And Sailor Decorated

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 29.—Pfc. Maitland R. Brandel was home on furlough today, wearing a silver star which was awarded for gallantry in action in New Georgia, where he was cited after covering the retreat of a platoon in a clash with the Japs on July 27. He also served at Guadalcanal after the army relieved the marines.

He is the husband of Mrs. Eria Owen Brandel and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brandel.

Machinist's Mate Paul M. Delaney, 29, husband of Mrs. Barbara Delaney, also has been awarded the silver star for remaining at his post aboard a destroyer in Kula gulf, New Georgia, after he was wounded in action.

Regional OPA Rent Director Is Fired

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29.—Birkett L. Williams, regional Office of Price Administration director, announced today Rowland D. Schell, OPA regional rent executive for Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, "has been relieved of all duties in this connection."

Williams announced appointment of Frank Barton of Cleveland, deputy director, as acting head of the five-state region, "effective today."

Returning here from his home at Detroit, Schell said "I have no comment at this time. Any comment I might make would be premature. First of all, I'm going to find out what this is all about."

Williams declined to give a reason for Schell's dismissal.

MORAL GUILT FOR BOMBING

The bombing of Berlin again has focused the question of moral guilt for the bombing of cities. Are the British, who have developed area bombing into a massive city-crushing military operation, more destructive than Germany's earlier attempts, co-equal in guilt with the Germans?

The answer would seem to be yes, if guilt exists. But anyone who attempts to deal with guilt as between combatants in modern warfare finds himself in a quandary. When wars are fought between whole nations, as distinct from armies, with total destruction as the acknowledged aim, there is scant room for niceties of means.

In World war I, Germany's submarine warfare was an outrageous thing when it was loosed on non-combatant vessels. Yet in this war there no longer is any question of the propriety of sinking every ship that can be found, if it is of any value to the enemy. The United States, which protested indignantly when the implications of submarine warfare became clear a quarter of a century ago, is not bound by any considerations of humanitarianism in its own submarine campaign against Japan.

It was known before the beginning of this war that airplanes would be used to bomb cities; they were used for that purpose in the other war. It was known that the victims of bombing would do everything in their power to retaliate with heavier and more destructive raids. The few attempts made to outlaw the tactic before it could be put into practice failed.

Everybody knew what was coming, even those who refused to believe it could happen. The only surprise sprung by Germany was the extent of its preparations for a kind of warfare that had been discussed for 25 years, made practical by development of airplanes and even demonstrated in the Spanish revolution. When aerial bombing was used against England, measures of retaliation were begun without delay; they are the recent massive raids on Berlin and the other raids which preceded them.

The United States, while still committed to a policy of destroying specific military targets by "precision" bombing, is not influenced by any desire to evade guilt but only by conviction that target bombing is a more efficient way to hasten the end of the war.

There is, however, a question of guilt to be answered—not guilt as between combatants but guilt as between nations which prepare and initiate wars and nations which seek peace. It was Germany who prepared the great airplane fleet which terrorized Europe at the beginning of the war when no other nation possessed the means of neutralizing it. It was Germany, arrogant in its confidence of being able to win the war quickly with its weapons, which initiated the war.

It was Germany who decided how the war would be fought and what the victims of its assault would need to do to save themselves. It was Japan which struck the United States at Pearl Harbor. It was Italy which strafed and bombed Ethiopians, with no means of retaliating, and it was Japan which blasted China's cities from the air.

The question of guilt bears only one answer. The nations which initiated the war with all the means at their command are guilty. The nations which are trying to recover what they lost by their own unpreparedness are practicing self-preservation, which never has been grounds for any accusation of moral guilt.

TOO MUCH ALACRITY

Congressional alacrity in taking hold of the whisky shortage, with the apparent aim of relieving thirsty citizens, is bound to call attention to some other shortages which have not been tackled with any alacrity at all.

One thinks of such homely, but vitally necessary, things as diapers for babies, underwear for children, meat and butter. These shortages, which not only inconvenience citizens but gave them a pain in the neck, were laid to the diversion of production for military use and lend-lease.

There was the difference, of course, that they did not bear anything like the federal tax of $9 a gallon which has been put on whisky, though it is not pleasant to believe that could have been the reason. But the only other explanation is that they were not good talking points.

For reasons which psychologists may understand but the general public can only guess at, the shortage of whisky has produced more heat under the collar than any of the numerous shortages that have occurred since the beginning of war. Congress seems to have climbed on the bandwagon in an attempt to convince constituents that it is responsive to its thirsty constituents.

But the effect of seeing it there threatens to be a snappish conclusion reached by a far greater number of constituents that congressmen should be finding something more important to do with their valuable time.

ACCORDING TO OUR MEANS

Introduction of bills to put into effect administrative recommendations for easing veterans back into civilian life is the first step in a long journey of public obligation. The proposed legislation should be viewed in that light.

Public support is assured for the recommendations already made—the $300 mustering out pay, unemployment, old age and survivors' insurance administered through the existing social security organization out of special grants of money transferred from public funds.

The provisions as specified are a reasonable compromise between extreme generosity and caution; they provided a good starting point. It is probable that congress may yield to the temptation, always present in wartime, to increase the allowances over the original recommendations.

As the war wears on, there will be further proposals, no doubt. It may reasonably be expected that soon after the end of hostilities proposals for some special gesture of gratitude will be made. Later, if history repeats itself, there will be still more proposals, finally dealing with pensions for the veterans of World war II—and closing with adjustments of pension rates. This is as much a part of the cost of war as ammunition during hostilities and should be so considered.

During the fiscal year 1942, the United States veterans administration paid $19,525,453 for Civil war pensions, $125,674,152 for Spanish-American war pensions, $263,870,650 for World war I pensions and $200,788 for pensions arising out of the present war. Contrary to the claims of critics and inequality, the United States has tried to be generous with those who have served it. It never can do enough, because the sacrifice of military service cannot be measured in monetary value.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, November 30

FAIRLY ACTIVE and progressive programs may be pushed on this day, mainly if the attention is concentrated on cashing in on past performances or in solidifying the fortunes for future security. There may be a sudden gain, or a swift grasp of opportunities may prove lucrative. But conserve funds and energies safeguard all possessions in business and home interests, at the same time looking out for domestic happiness, love affairs and also professional associations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately lively and productive year, with quick action and clever management of suddenly presented opportunities combining to make a secure and promising future with comfort and growth. There may be an unlooked for chance for gain and expansion even in a speculative proposition. Also there may be a satisfactory return for good or clever work already faithfully performed, possibly a gift or investment. But in all relations be careful to safeguard the interests—in business, possessions, home as well as professional and affectional affiliation. Build for the future.

A child born on this day although clever and enterprising may have some reversals or losses, with close ties in jeopardy. However there may be enduring reward for past performances or fidelity.

I had always thought the Japs stayed and fought to the finish, but it was enlightening to see them break and run in the most un-Samurai fashion. And when they ran, they weren't just crawling—they went at high gear.—Lt. Col. Victor Krulak on Choiseul action.

Many American citizens not able to be in uniform may make a direct personal sacrifice to help win the war by living more simply, eating less meat, dairy and poultry products, and freeing more of the scarce foods to maintain morale among the populations nearer the fighting fronts.—Vice President Henry A. Wallace.

The United States must assume its full share of neighborly responsibility, but in doing so we must beware of any holier-than-thou attitude.—Gov. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Fighting a Hidden Foe

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
AGAIN WE urge you to spend as much as one to five dollars on the Christmas seals of the National Tuberculosis association to continue a real war on one of mankind's most ancient and unrelenting foes.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Statistics show that there is very little unemployment in North America. That would mean that 80,000,000 people could afford to buy one dollar's worth of stamps. Think what $80,000,000 would do to help!

The family physician is the head man in this fight just now. And for reasons.

We have had in the past two years a wider survey of the popu-

Ohioans With 8th U. S. Air Force In Europe Decorated

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Award of decorations to Ohio airmen for valor and exceptional achievement by members of the 8th U. S. air force was announced today by Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commanding American air units in the European theater of operations.

Of the medals, three were awards of the Silver star, the army's third highest valor recognition for gallantry in action.

The awards included Distinguished Flying crosses for gallantry and extraordinary achievement in flight, Oak Leaf clusters to the DFC, Air medals for exceptional achievement in flight, Oak Leaf clusters to the Air medal, Purple Hearts for wounds received in combat, Oak Leaf cluster to the Purple Heart, and soldier's medals for heroism not in actual combat.

The Oak Leaf cluster is awarded to men entitled to receive the same medal or cross which he already holds.

Recipients of the awards include:

Distinguished flying cross: 1st Lt. Warren G. Strayer, R. D. 2, Williamsport; S/Sgt. Mike J. Komo, East Liverpool (missing in action); S/Sgt. Glen E. Salby, Canton.

Air medal: T/Sgt. Paul L. Zimmerman, Hampton; S/Sgt. Charles W. Robb, Logan; Sgt. John W. Brooks, Girard; Sgt. Billy T. Davis, Wapakoneta; 2nd Lt. Francis X. Toth, Schultz, Springfield; and 1st Lt. S. T. Tilton, Tiltonsville; T/Sgt. John Pitcock, Newton Falls; S/Sgt. Robert W. Wolfe, Canton, (missing in action); S/Sgt. Nicholas Popovich, Warren; Sgt. Arthur D. Schreck, Gallon.

lution to detect tuberculosis than ever before. The entire Army and Navy forces, and a large proportion of industrial workers have been tested. So an ever increasing number of people are being advised to consult a physician about advice as to treatment. And in most cases that means the family physician.

Family Physician's Duty
So whatever other interest he may have the family physician must be a specialist in tuberculosis. The detection of tuberculosis (of the lungs) in this mass survey has depended on the use of x-ray of the chest. That is the only safe and sure way of weeding out the active cases and the suspects.

In Massachusetts the Army alone has rejected more than 2,000 men because of actual or suspected tuberculosis.

The active case is readily determined by the x-ray and the procedure with them is the simplest of all the decisions in this field. They need sanitarium treatment, and usually surgical collapse of the active lung, bed rest, and segregation from the rest of the patient's family until healing has taken place.

Diagnosis of Suspected Case

In the suspected case the procedure is more complicated. The diagnosis "suspected" means that the x-ray man has found some hazy shadows that he is not perfectly sure of. The family physician will probably want to order another x-ray study more carefully done than is possible by mass x-raying, and make an examination of the sputum and by the stethoscope. Also observation of the patient especially the daily temperature over a period of weeks will determine whether there is an actual active disease present or not. The decision of what form of treatment should be instituted will depend on the result of these studies.

Tuberculosis of the lungs tends to increase in prevalence from the age of adolescence on. Or rather it tends to become evident. It hangs on if not detected or treated for many years, but in older individuals the disease is more a source of danger to others than to themselves; they have established an immunity which often carries them to extreme old age.

These new case finding methods have initiated a large scale attack on unsuspected tuberculosis among apparently healthy persons. It is the duty as well as the opportunity of the family physician to carry it through.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clending has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clending, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Private Doorway for Cat.
Also Snake's Entrance
HUTCHINSON, Kas.—When the cat of William Frederick's home was to go in or out nowadays, it has to sit down and yowl just like any ordinary cat.—It no longer has a private entrance.

Tabby didn't do anything to forfeit its right to a miniature doorway leading to its sleeping room. It was just that the family made the startling discovery that a snake was using the same doorway.

So the hole was boarded.

On What's Going On In Capital

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Secretary Morgenthau renewed his fight for more and higher taxes today on Capitol Hill but about all he could hope to gain was a reputation for consistency.

He still wants a tax bill providing $10,500,000,000 in additional revenue. The figure already has been chopped to $2,140,000,000 by the house, and members of the senate finance committee have indicated they would oppose any drastic hike.

Even before the Treasury chief carried his proposal to the senate committee today he was told by leading Democrats of the group the house bill carried about all the levies the senate would approve.

The Treasury proposal drew support from a coalition of eight national organizations, including the CIO, which denounced the house bill as an aid to inflationary prices.

NEW YEAR'S GREETINGS

About 300,000 men may get New Year's greetings from Uncle Sam in the form of military induction notices.

The army has fixed its January draft requirements at twice the figure WMC officials had predicted, leaving the combined army-navy monthly quota at its present rate. WMC officials had indicated military manpower requirements would drop sharply after the first of the year.

The failure of draft boards to meet October induction quotas was one of the main reasons for the army's high figure for January. Another was the lagging enlistments in the WAC.

WMC officials say they can't predict how the January induction figure will affect fathers. Congress already has passed and sent to the White House legislation placing pre-war fathers at the bottom of the draft pool.

SOLDIER VOTE ARGUMENT

Senate debate on the armed forces ballot bill promises more fireworks. Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), co-author with Senator Green (D-Ri) of legislation to authorize absentee voting by service personnel, charges "selfish Republican leaders" are attempting to "sabotage" the measure.

Republicans have formed an almost solid bloc in support of a substitute measure permitting service men and women to designate a proxy back home to cast ballots for them.

to get NEW
VITALITY..PEP!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

THESE two important steps may help you to overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness, poor complexion!

A person who is operating on only 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS RICH, RED BLOOD you should enjoy that sense of well being which denotes physical fitness... mental alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient.

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic built sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 16 and 30 cc. sizes. (U.S.P. Co.)

"THAT KEITH WOMAN"

by PHYLLIS MOORE GALLAGHER

CHAPTER ONE

The telephone rang shrilly at nine o'clock that Saturday night. For moments I lay in my bed, under my blanket, listening to the sound of the bell. I was not alone. I was with my associates on the line where I'm Assistant Secretary. Then I got up, shivering, into my blue satin housecoat and slippers and did a neat twenty dash through my icy room and into a long hall.

My teeth chattered like musketry. I stuttered "Hello, hello," and goose-pimples peppered me all over. Incidentally, they were the first of the se-pimples I was to experience the grim week that followed, but I popped up many times later for reasons far more chilling than coldness. I had no way to get out of course, as I listened to that strained voice on the other end of the wire that I was being plunged into a tangled black web of murder.

Pamela Keith said, "Letty? Letty, I'm going to call off Sandra's debut this afternoon. I—I can't go rough with it."

"What?" I cried. "Good Lord, Pamela!"

"I'm all—shot this morning, Letty."

I thought I understood. Look, Pamela. I soothed. "Take some medicine, mix some gin with orange juice—anything. Or—go soak your feet! Do anything but don't call off the party. Why, Pamela, the press would come down on you like a blitz! All your friends would fall away—first through the Social Register. And think of Sandra! You know how cruel young people can be! They have their mean little hardships by which they measure another's importance.... Sandra would never live it down."

Poor little Sandra—Pamela Keith's deb daughter—who'd had enough to live down already.

"I am thinking of Sandra," Pamela said slowly. "That's why I want you to announce the cancellation of the debut in your noon edition, Letty. Get it on the radio somehow. Into all the early afternoon papers—"

"But, Pamela, you just can't do this. It's too late...."

I talked on and on, and when I'm really wound up I'm like a dictionary wired for sound. I come by this accomplishment naturally. My father, before he left Congress and became one of the horde of lame ducks in Washington, was called "Filibustering Sam"; and my mother, saturated with a strange variety of facts, vague ideas, and ethical principles, makes speeches before any woman's organization that will listen to her and some that won't, and talks in her sleep besides....

When I'd quite finished Pamela said: "All right, Letty. You win." "That's the ticket. See you later, Pamela," I declared, and hung up. I was relieved for I'm extremely fond of little Sandra Keith. But later I was to wonder, conscience-stricken, what course events would have taken if I had not insisted that Pamela Keith go on with her daughter's debut. Maybe none of those horrible tragedies would have taken place: maybe.... But I can't bear to think about that.

I was still standing there, trying to figure out what was cooking when Dad and Mother came padding down the hall toward me.

"Letty Randolph!" Mother said. She was obviously rubbed the wrong way and when she is she's as formidable and awesome as a stormtrooper—and she doesn't un-rub easily. "You've awakened us," she went on. "I wouldn't be surprised but what you've awakened the whole hotel. Why all the bellowing?"

Dad grumbled, "Yeah, what's up, Letty? You sounded like you were practicing a broadcast out here."

Suddenly I laughed, and with good reason. Mother and Dad at the crack of dawn are really something. Mother sleeps in everything but the kitchen stove because she's the cold type; and Dad, the exact opposite, wears nothing but an abbreviated, old-fashioned night-shirt, split far up each side. Seeing them like this you'd never suspect that Dad is a tall, distinguished-looking, gray-haired man who bowls over every widow and spinster who looks up into his steel-blue eyes; and that mother is a real beauty. Brown-eyed, brown-haired, with a trick way of looking at you from lowered eyelids which makes you listen to her attentively, fervently hoping she'll reveal something startlingly unique.

Strangely enough it was this antique-ish night shirt of Dad's which played its small but important part in the trapping of a cold-blooded, ruthless killer.

"Well, what is up?" Dad repeated, and I explained as best I could.

In the Sicilian campaign, part of our losses in the material employed were as follows:

- We lost 8% of our medium tanks.
- We lost nearly half of our 57-mm. guns.
- We lost 33 1/3% of our 75-mm. gun carriages.
- We lost 22% of our 105-mm. howitzer carriages.
- We lost 54% of our 37-mm. gun carriages.
- We lost an undisclosed number of ships, landing airplanes.
- We lost a vast quantity of collateral material like food, clothing, things like 1,100 miles of copper telephone wire.
- We lost all this in a month-long minor campaign that was in every sense of the word a complete victory for us.

There's just no use in trying to dodge this fact:

Somebody's got to pay for that stuff we lost. Somebody's got to pay for the new stuff that replaced it. Somebody's got to pay for the infinitely larger amount of stuff that's going to be used—and part of it lost—in Italy, in France, in the Balkans, in Norway, in India, in a lot of places.

It's no use kidding ourselves. That "somebody" is Uncle Sam—and we've got to lend him the money to do it by buying War Bonds. There's no cheap way out—no easy way out—there's just nothing we can do except to keep on working and buying more and more Bonds till this War is won.

And the harder we pitch in right now—and the more Bonds we buy—the quicker that will be.

Grove-Madden Wedding Held On Saturday

Miss Betty Faye Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Grove, and Corp. Robert Winston Madden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Madden of East Palestine, were united in marriage Saturday morning at the Lady of Lourdes church, East Palestine. The double ring ceremony was used. The bride wore a satin broadened gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and carried a bouquet of Tulleman and Golden Rapture roses. She also wore a strand of pearls. Her fingertip length veil was edged with Chantilly lace and fell from a tiara of seed pearls.

Miss Norma McDonald of East Palestine, formerly of Salem, served as her maid of honor in a deep rose tulle gown with a shoulder length veil of matching tulle which was held in place by sequined butterflies. Her bouquet was of pink and white roses.

Francis Less of Salem was best man. Mrs. Grove, mother of the bride, wore a two piece powder blue dress with a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Madden was attired in aqua crepe and her corsage was also of red roses.

Mrs. Webber, grandmother of the groom, wore a black and white ensemble with a corsage of white mums.

Following the ceremony a wedding-breakfast was served to 30 guests at the home of the groom's parents. Following a trip Corp. Madden will return to the Army Air Transport command at Wilmington, Delaware.

Mrs. Madden, a graduate of East Palestine high school, has been employed in the office at the Curtis-Wright plant at Beaver, Pa. Corp. Madden, graduated from Ursuline high school at Youngstown and prior to entering the army was associated with I. G. Madden, contractor.

The bride is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kesselmir of Washington, and Mrs. C. M. Wilson of E. State st.

Those attending from Salem were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Less, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Middiker and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kesselmir and Mrs. C. M. Wilson.

Police Charge Florist With Cemetery Thefts

MUSCATINE, Ia., Nov. 30.—Chief of Police Mark Taylor said today a charge of petty larceny had been filed against Clarence Seriat, Muscatine florist, for allegedly stealing wreaths from cemetery graves. Seriat is at liberty under $100 bond.

Taylor said complaints of graves being molested had been frequent for several months and investigation led to the arrest of Seriat.

TEXTURE AND COLOR PLAY LEADING STYLE ROLE

Texture and color play a leading role in the models turned out by the smart dress designers, and when you make your own dresses you will be clever if you follow their example. Stripes, plaids and checks in bright colors need little trimming and come in many different materials. Three examples are shown above; at left a plaid daytime model of navy spun rayon with a striking woven plaid design in light blue. The fitted jacket is short and the slim skirt is front gored. The afternoon dress, right, is made of rayon crepe which has an etched floral pattern in black on pale rose. The wrap-around closing is caught at the waistline in a side-saddle drape and the plain black belt repeats the black accent. The formal frock, center, combines a simple V-necked bodice in pink and black regency striped rayon satin with slim skirt of fine black rayon crepe. A wide set-in band of sleek black rayon satin gives a smooth and tiny-waisted effect.

Gold Braid Is Society In Washington's War Parties

BY MARGARET KERNODLE

WASHINGTON—Lend-lease replaces leisure as inspiration for most wartime parties in Washington's most hectic social year. There are more parties than ever and everybody who wears gold braid is Washington society, the experts say.

inner social circle," as well as the "big social season" (October to Lent) and "the little season" (Lent to hot weather) until "there is no social season. Washington society in peace is one of the biggest businesses in the country; in war it becomes one of the biggest in the world—almost everything social ties in with war."

There has not been a formal Washington debut for two years—the first time that's happened in a quarter of a century—none is scheduled.

Military Luncheon. Only about half of the "ladies" luncheons which used to be institutions occur at all now because the ladies eat with an admiral or a general. Parties are smaller, later (so the military can drop in) and most always informal, hardly ever too exclusive.

War hosts or hostesses for some of the somewhat exclusive little parties include Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, who entertains for Republicans frequently; Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Stettinius, Mrs. F. Burrall Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Field who have "nice but not lavish" parties, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dewey, Mrs. Charles Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finletter (she was Gretchen Damosch), Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bancroft, Major and Mrs. Richard K. Mellon (yes, of the Mellons), Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Deering Howes, Prince and Princess Guido Pignatelli, Mr. and Mrs. James Clement Dunn, and of course Bernard Baruch who has "chic little parties at the Carlton."

Election Parties. Parties for presidential possibilities have begun. Eric Johnston is a current favorite honored guest. Wives of war chiefs—Eisenhower, Clark and Doolittle are in Washington social life now.

The First Lady recently said, "There is no social season as such at the White House." The President merely receives a new ambassador in his office these days.

Washington's top hostess, Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean holds her place in war time too. Her dinners dwindled in size and food—she had two for only fifty people recently. But her guests still sip champagne and most of her party food comes from caterers who, in spite of rationing, furnish roast beef or ham for about $1.75 a pound.

And tea by telephone invitations is how people met Mrs. Winston Churchill when she came to Washington—not a sign of an engraved invitation.

Gardens on sloping ground are better if they are not plowed until spring, as heavy rains of spring and late winter may wash away topsoil.

ART'S

AVAILABLE IN RINGS FROM $100 UP

Before it is polished, any diamond appears dull and lifeless. Only after leaving the cutter's bench does it attain its full, scintillating beauty. The finer the cutting, the more brilliant the stone. Multi-Facet Diamonds, product of a new method of cutting, have 40 extra facets around the edge, or girdle. These added facets create a myriad of light-reflecting surfaces. Moreover, since Multi-Facet cutting emphasizes the color, no off-color stones are used.

Advantages of Multi-Facet Diamonds:

- Every Multi-Facet Diamond has at least 98 facets.
- The 40 extra facets around girdle eliminate the rough edge; help prevent chipping.
- Multi-Facet cutting enhances color of stone.
- Increased light-catching surfaces add to brilliance.

ART'S is proud of its appointment as the exclusive representative of Multi-Facet in this locality. ART'S is introducing Multi-Facet Diamonds in smart rings from $100. Your inspection is invited.

FBI Collars Spies In Nation As They Become Dangerous

By FRANK I. WELER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Fear of the FBI counterspy caused Hitler to warn his new espionage-sabotage graduates.

"Do not arouse suspicion of the G-men!" He doesn't want this gang to meet the fate of his early underground agents in the U. S. A.

German plans went into a tail-spin when G-men secretly operated with Hitler's first spies and about all he got was a mess of misinformation. His agents had the dope all right, but it was FBI-doctored when it reached Germany and caused more harm than good.

It's almost an Edgar Allen Poe story the way G-men captured 33 ranking members of the dangerous Frederick Duquesne spy ring in New York. J. Edgar Hoover says that never in espionage history did a country stand to lose more than this one.

All of Duquesne's crew were master spies. They were planted in war factories, shipyards, within the armed forces and in some government bureaus in Washington.

They had details for firing ships, 81 accurate details on Chrysler tank production, airplane production, the Ford plants, defense plans of the Panama canal, correct specifications on Sperry and Norden bombsight parts, and data on just about every war plant, communications center, American weapon, steel and munitions production, convoys and armed service training posts.

Kept FBI Informed

FBI contacted William Seboid, a German-born naturalized and loyal American citizen coerced into the Duquesne gang by the Gestapo. He secretly kept G-men informed.

Even Seboid didn't know FBI was making motion pictures and sound recordings of his interviews with Nazi big-wigs.

Probably the most dangerous was Ulrich Von Der Osten, who had worked for Hitler and Franco in Spain. He could take two two or three seemingly unrelated bits of information and come up with a perfect pattern of Allied intentions, so the story goes.

This reporter still jitters when G-men tell him that for eight days in 1941 he lived next door in a New York hotel to Von Der Osten. Well armed and ruthless, yet he was freehanded with good liquor, funny stories and midnight lunches and called himself Julio Lopez of Buenos Aires. I heard "Lopez" telephoning in German, Spanish and Italian after radio newscasts and once wondered aloud whether this polite, smallish, well-dressed and fiftyish gent could be a spy.

Nipped Second Plot

"Look, farm boy," my friends said, "people in New York often speak more than one language."

G-men had "Lopez," your correspondent and other Lopez neighbors spotted all the time.

FBI broke up a second spy plot when agents nabbed glamorous 34-year-old Grace Buchanan-Dineen, great granddaughter of the last Count De Neen of Brittany, in Detroit, and offered her jail or a job as counter-spy.

Her gang had rounded up an amazing amount of factual information on munitions and airplane factories, military and naval bases, helium gas, and the cargo and sailing dates of convoys. All this she turned over secretly to FBI for "doctored" and devious dispatch to Hitler.

Hoover says this FBI spying on spies is just like setting a rat trap. He baits it by pretending not to know anything about the spy and all the time secretly siphoning the danger out of his doings.

Instead of swatting the hornet's nest with a single blow, the FBI collars spies one by one as they become dangerous.

PLEA FOR TAXES

had "carefully reviewed" the fiscal situation.

"There is nothing in the new budget figures in our opinion to warrant reducing our goal below that of an inflationary threat which he said is inherent in the estimated $36,000,000,000 surplus between national income after payment of taxes and the available supply of goods.

Up to this point, he said, spending has been held down "and we have avoided disastrous price increases. . . . But . . . day after day, the continuous pressure of spending power has been cracking our price controls a little here and a little there and threatens to produce a major break-through."

Economy No Substitute

Terming as "perhaps the most superficially plausible and therefore the most insidious," the argument of economy in governmental spending as a substitute for taxes, Morgenthau declared:

"I am in complete and hearty sympathy with any measure that can be adopted to reduce governmental costs. But if we are to fight this war to a speedy conclusion we cannot relax our fighting or our production for war. That means that we cannot significantly relax our spending. I am not in sympathy with any measures or proposals to cut expenditures in any way that will make our total production anything less than an all-out effort."

Leading Democrats on the committee informed Morgenthau last week the $2,140,000,000 house bill was about all the Senate could be expected to pass. Added to existing levies, that increase would swell the total federal revenue to about $43,300,000,000 over a full year's operation.

Chairman George (D. Ga.) warned Morgenthau in advance it would be "impossible" to enact a tax bill already made by the house. Among those decisions were the blackjacking of a proposed federal sales levy and the rejection of suggested sharp increases in individual income tax rates.

Morgenthau has been opposed to a sales tax but he wanted to raise an extra $10,500,000,000 this way: $6,500,000,000 from higher income taxes; $400,000,000 from estate and gift taxes; $1,100,000,000 additional from corporations, and $2,500,000,000 from new and increased excise taxes.

LIEUT. GEN. A. A. VANDEGRIFT, U. S. Marines, who led the campaign on Guadalcanal and recently the offensive on Bougainville, is shown as he appeared to photographers in San Francisco on his return to take up a new assignment. Vandegrift told newsmen that "teamwork is winning the war in the South Pacific." Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger now is in command on Island. (International)

Says Registration Plan Would Prevent Youth Liquor Sales

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29.—Probate Judge Sidney Jones of Warren, O., contends a state registration system enabling liquor-dispensing establishments to determine the age of youthful appearing customers would curtail juvenile delinquency.

"There are too many cases of minors, both boys and girls, being served liquor in cafes and road-houses these days—a situation which definitely leads to juvenile delinquency," Judge Jones declared yesterday at the ninth district American Legion child welfare and rehabilitation conference.

The judge, who presides over a juvenile court in Warren, asserted a registration program "could go far toward arresting our increasing delinquency problem."

"The registrant, before he could be served any intoxicating beverage, would have to produce a registration card, on which would be recorded his name and age," he explained.

"It is difficult in many instances—especially among girls—for owners of cafes to determine if the prospective customer is under age or not. An identification card would help solve this difficulty."

SLAYER OF TWINS DECLARED INSANE

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 29.—Two alienists testified today that Henry Hagert, 18-year-old confessed killer of James and Charles Collins, is insane.

The testimony came from Dr. Harry A. Lipson, a psychiatrist, and Clara W. Graves, a psychologist, as the defense planned to call the youth's mother, Mrs. Ida Hagert, as its final witness at the first degree murder trial.

"Hagert wouldn't know he was committing a crime," Dr. Lipson declared. "He is incapable of determining right from wrong. He is afflicted with a psychopathic personality, afflicted with a psychosis, and is definitely insane."

Hagert's attorneys contend he is innocent by reason of insanity. As a prelude to the trial, a jury last month found him sane. The Collins twins were shot to death last August in suburban Bay Village after hitch-hiking a ride with Hagert.

J. M. Rock Wool Is True Insulation

Question: Why is J-M Rock Wool Home Insulation such an effective insulating material for your home?

Answer: The usually high insulating value of J-M Home insulation is due to countless tiny confined air cells which are entrapped in it. There are literally millions of these invisible air cells in each cubic inch of Rock Wool as it is packed between the walls and under the roof of your home. The passage of heat through such a structure is effectively blocked. Convection and radiation losses are practically eliminated.

A simple, but convincing test is to take two cubes of ice of equal size. Roll one up in a ball of J. M. Rock Wool and place it in a saucer. Put the other ice cube in another saucer and place the two saucers side. When the unprotected ice cube has completely melted away, unwrap the "insulated" one. You'll be amazed to see how little it has melted—J-M Rock Wool has kept heat out.

Obviously, it will be just as difficult for the heat to get through your walls and attic floor when a blanket of this same Rock Wool nearly four inches thick entirely surrounds your home.

For further information regarding your home insulation problems, Phone 3141, R. B. Finley of the Finley Music Co., 132 S. Broadway, will be glad to furnish you with a free estimate. Distributor for Salem and Columbiana county. Insulate now—three years to pay. Convenient monthly payments.

Your Car Demands Timely Checkups

"Too little, too late" can be applied to many things besides war materials, men or ships. For instance, attention to your car.

Few people will be driving new cars for some time at least; they simply must keep the old one going or go without. People have formed the habit of letting the little things go, feeling that soon they would trade for a new car and let the next owner worry about the repair work. That was all right then but now it's different, either you have the little things attended to now or later pay for a real repair or replacement garage bill.

Some motorists have looked this condition square in the face and have some responsible garage such as Smith's at Third and Vine streets make regular check-ups so the minor work does not get a chance

Salona Feeds Aid Livestock Growth

If ever a farmer had to be a business executive it's now. Not only must he know how best to produce the crops or feed the stock but he must know costs of feeding, marketing and financing.

Few farmers find it pays to feed only what they may have grown or have on hand. Most have proven to their satisfaction that, to produce weight fast, animals must have the farm grains supplemented with concentrates that supply the minerals and other ingredients lacking in grain alone.

The Salona Supply Co. has checked with many farmers who are using supplements. They have tried many different kinds as this advance in farming has been developed. They feel they are in a position to stake their reputation on giving advice that would prove profitable to any farmer who might be skeptical.

If they can show you how you can mix your grain with supplements and receive more in money, quicker than by old methods you certainly are interested.

Art's Are Stocked With Gift Items

To be sure Christmas packages arrive on time to our boys in camps throughout the nation it's necessary that they be mailed soon.

Many desirable items are on the market, hundreds of them designed to meet the serviceman's needs. Stores that are abreast of the times such as Art's Jewelers on E. State st., have stocked special gifts they could procure.

Many items in leather, such as wallets, picture frames, money belts are wanted by the boy in uniform. A visit to Art's will call to your attention a long list, any of which would please him or her.

Remember Art's budget system is most liberal. You can do all your Christmas shopping and make a single payment each week or month to meet your financial conditions.

Long Delayed Upsets Topple Notre Dame And Others

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Pigskin post-mortem: And wasn't it a great day for the Navy, what with the Midshipmen, Great Lakes, Iowa and Del Monte Pre-Flight schools and a flock of Navy-manned college teams coming out on top Saturday? As this observer saw it, the difference between the Navy and Army teams was partly the greater size and strength of the Navy line (don't let them program weights fool you) and partly the kicking of a little guy named Hal Hamberg.

SERVICE STRIPES
Back in 1901 admission to the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia was by invitation only and the anonymous author of the fine history of the service series in this year's program adds: "Between $40 and $50 was being offered for a seat." That might be one way of observing the wartime 10-mile restriction. Navy followers insist that a lot of the credit for Navy's team belongs to Johnny Wilson, who didn't even get his name in the program. Johnny, who once taught the "Tars" coaching staff the uses of the "ruse" forward pass when he pitched for St. John's college in a scrimmage against the Midshipmen, has tutored the Plebe teams for years and sends his boys up to the big squad ready to play with the men.

TOWN MEETING
Club owners gathering for this week's major and minor league meetings are wondering if Judge Landis might not be getting ready to crack down again by releasing a lot of players now on the national defense lists. When a lot of minor circuits closed down last year, the active players had to be sold or released. Most of those in the services were merely transferred to the defense lists of clubs still in business and those clubs can't take care of all of them when they return to baseball.

LOUISVILLE SLUGGERS
People who have helped buy baseball equipment for the fighting forces may be pleased to hear that they're also providing useful weapons for the Marines on New Georgia Island. Combat Correspondent Tech. Sgt. William S. Frank reports: "The usual weapon for standing silent and effective night guard here is a machete or knife, but one Marine tank crew created its own novel way of mounting guard. If a lurking Jap slugs through the line, the Marine tankmen are prepared to conk him with a baseball bat."

BIG LEAGUES OPEN WINTER MEETINGS IN N. YORK TODAY

Judge Landis May Have Something To Say In Week-Long Session

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The winter baseball meetings open a one-week run today and while the minors have more fireworks to set off than the majors, the biggest blockbusters of all probably will be those "the head" drops on the boys behind closed doors.
"The head," naturally, is Kenesaw Mountain Landis, and a couple of things have happened recently that have the man in the broken-down hat steamed up like a locomotive. And as the nine major leagues which survived the war in 1943 gathered in separate sessions today to start the ball rolling, you heard a lot of talk about what the high commissioner might have to say later in the week.
In the last few weeks Landis has run into such of his pet peeves as (1) betting on ball games, which caused him to divorce William Cox from baseball for keeps, and (2) extra-curricular off-season exhibitions by major leaguers, some for three dollars a game.
"The head" no doubt wants to bring all the boys together to get his feelings on these matters off his chest—and while Landis doesn't have a particularly big chest, he gets a lot off it.
Indications that he'll speak "a piece" came shortly after he let down over the weekend for his first semi-official act was to go into a huddle with William G. Bramham, boss of the minor leagues, yesterday.

REDSKINS HANDED FIRST LOSS, 27-14

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—From here on the pressure is on the Washington Redskins and their passer, Sammy Baugh.
While the Chicago Bears ended their regular National Football league season yesterday by smashing the Chicago Cardinals 35-24 to clinch the Western division title, the Redskins lost their first league game, to Phil-Pitt, 27-14.
Washington thus must win at least one of its final two games, both with the New York Giants, to capture the Eastern crown and to gain entrance to the national championship playoff against the Bears in Wrigley field Dec. 19.
Baugh will have to pass as never before if he wishes to beat Sid Luckman's two all-time aerial marks set yesterday. The Bears' trigger-man completed 10 passes for 241 yards against the Cardinals, running his gain to 2194, and also hooked up four touchdown tosses, boosting his total to 28.
These accomplishments bettered the two seasonal records posted by Cecil Isbell last year—2021 yards gained and 24 touchdown passes.

most of the other players joined in with gusto.
Eddie Shore, Buffalo manager, hopped down from the bench onto the ice and joined the melee. After the ice was finally cleared, Shore and Moe went in for each other behind the players' bench with some spectators joining in. Referee Rabbit McVeigh fined Shore $100 and Beisler $25.
Providence defeated Indianapolis, 5 to 2, before 5,400 at Providence. Cleveland took over leadership in the western division by beating Buffalo 5 to 1 on Saturday night.

Fighting Irish Are Joined In Defeat by Randolph, Tex., Field, Franklin-Marshall

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—That long-delayed wave of upsets that usually marks every college football season struck unexpectedly last week and left in its wake the wreckage of Notre Dame's dreams for a perfect season.
Perhaps even more shocking than last year's 55-12 rout of mighty Boston college by Holy Cross was the sizzling news late Saturday that Great Lakes had completed a 46-yard pass in the last 30 seconds to humble the Fighting Irish, 19-14.
The wave of upsets also bowled over unbeaten and untied Randolph Field of Texas; Franklin-Marshall of Lancaster, Pa.; and almost gave underdog Cornell a victory over Pennsylvania. Virtually overlooked was Navy's 12-0 triumph over Army in the game that was expected to be the outstanding one of the week.

Behind 12-7, Notre Dame had taken a 14-12 lead on Creighton Miller's touchdown with only one minute to play, a touchdown that apparently assured the Irish their 16th straight victory and their first unbeaten, untied season since the 1930 Knute Rockne team.
But the Sailors put on a regular movie finish after that. The Irish kicked off to the Sailors' 37. Steve Lach completed a pass to the Irish 46. On the next play he faded back while Paul Anderson cut behind the Notre Dame secondary and snared Lach's perfect peg on the seven without a soul near him.

Still Nation's No. 1 Team
There can be little doubt, however, that the Irish still rank as the No. 1 team in the country on the basis of their victories over Pitt, Georgia Tech, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Navy, Army, Northwestern and the Seashawks.
Navy, aided greatly by Hal Hamberg's coffin corner punting, shoved over two second half touchdowns for its fifth straight victory over Army and win the eastern championship. Like the Seashawks, Navy finished its season beaten only by Notre Dame. The Seashawks defeated Minnesota, 32-0, in their last game.

Randolph field went down before Southwestern Louisiana Institute, 6-0, while Bucknell defeated F. & M., 21-13.
Although defeated, Randolph field was selected yesterday to oppose Texas in the Cotton bowl on New Year's day. Texas won the Southwest conference title by beating the Texas Aggies on Thanksgiving.
Bowl Games
Except for the bowl game and a March Field-Del Monte Pre Flight game on Dec. 11, the season is over.
The outstanding teams in their sections included Navy, Dartmouth, Army and Penn in the east; Duke, L.S.U. and Georgia Tech in the south; Texas, Texas Aggies and Tulsa in the southwest; Purdue, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Great Lakes and Iowa Seashawks in the Midwest; Oklahoma in the Big Six; Colorado college in the Rocky mountains; and Southern California, Washington, College of Pacific, March field and Del Monte Pre-Flight on the Pacific coast.
Here's the lineup of the bowl games: U.S.C. and Washington in the Rose Bowl; Georgia Tech and Tulsa in the Sugar bowl; Louisiana State and Texas Aggies in the Orange bowl; Texas and Randolph field in the Cotton bowl. An opponent is still to be named for New Mexico in the Sun bowl. In addition, the annual East-West game will be played at San Francisco.

YOU'VE GOT TO BE GOOD . . .

You'll be up there in good company when you fly with the A.A.F.!

You'll be on the same team with fighters who knocked out the Luftwaffe over Salerno . . . with bombing crews that blasted Schweinfurt and blew Ploesti off the map . . . with hunters who tracked a Jap fleet to the Bismarck Sea, and bagged every ship that flew the red-ball flag.

You'll be up there in the "big leagues" . . . and to make it, you've got to be good . . . and that puts it up to you!

If you think you've got what it takes to fly . . . if you're willing to work long hours, on the ground as well as "upstairs" . . .

Then maybe you, too, can win your wings as Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot . . .

And fly and fight with the A.A.F. . . . the greatest team in the world!

MEN OF 17 . . . Go to the nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board; see if you can qualify to join the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. If you qualify, you will receive the Enlisted Reserve insignia . . . but will not be called for training until you are 18 or over.
Begin now to prepare yourself, mentally and physically, to be a Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot in the A.A.F. Bone up on math, physics, history, geography . . . all important subjects for a member of the Air Forces. Above all, study hard . . . and keep your mind alert. For the A.A.F. wants your training as an Aviation Cadet to be second to none in the world . . . so that when you win your wings, you'll be the toughest and smartest flyer who ever burned up the sky!

Toughen your body, too. For, as a member of a bomber crew or a fighter pilot, other men will depend on your "staying power," and you will depend on theirs. Meanwhile, see your local Civil Air Patrol officers about taking C.A.P. Cadet training—also see your High School Principal or Adviser about the recommended courses of the Air Service Division of the U. S. Victory Corps. Both afford valuable pre-aviation training.

TO WIN YOUR SILVER WINGS . . .

You'll start your A.A.F. training in one of America's leading colleges (after a brief conditioning period). Here, in 5 months, you will be given the equivalent of a year of college training. From the College Training Detachment you will go on to 8 months of full flight training.

When you win your wings as a Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot, you will get an extra $250 uniform allowance . . . and your pay will be $246 to $327 a month.

And after the war you will be qualified for leadership in the world's greatest new industry—Aviation!

See your nearest Aviation Cadet Examining Board—or the commanding officer of the College Training Detachment nearest you—for complete details.

(Essential workers in War Industry or Agriculture—do not apply.)

WAR OFFENSIVES

$10,500,000,000 of additional wartime taxes, said the secretary.

The budget revisions do not alter the fact that we can pay much higher taxes; they do not in any degree affect our moral obligation to meet now, all of the costs of the war that can be met by current taxation; and they do not affect in significant degree the serious inflationary dangers that face us as long as the war shall last, and in the post-war period.

"It is a great privilege to suppose that we can fight history's greatest war to save what we hold most dear without financial sacrifice."

The secretary reiterated his warning. The Daily Mail's New York correspondent said there even were rumors a sixth person representing Germany in some capacity not yet clear might sit in.

London was ready to discount any suggestion Germany might possibly be making a peace bid either to Russia, or the United States and Britain. The Daily Sketch cited Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' threats of reprisals yesterday for the bombing of Berlin and added:

"If Goebbels is still the mouthpiece of Germany these stories (of a peace bid) are not true."

There were other developments which provided food for thought. One was the statement of a deputy in the Hungarian parliament that Hungary should try to make peace and that she no longer is bound by the Axis three-power pact since Italy's surrender has voided that instrument.

Vatican Appeal

Another was a Bern dispatch in the Stockholm press saying that a high German personage, believed to be Franz Von Papen, Nazi ambassador to Turkey, had visited the Vatican, Nov. 26.

The Swiss newspaper Basler Nachrichten reported last Thursday in a dispatch from the Italian frontier that Pope Pius XII had undertaken a mission of mediation between Germany and the Allies.

There was no confirmation of this, but the pontiff's off-expressed desire to see an end of the current bloodshed was emphasized anew in an appeal to the world to observe Dec. 8 as a day of prayer for peace.

FLIERS SAVED AFTER DRIFTING AMONG ICEBERGS

BOBBING AMONG ICEBERGS in rubber floats, these ten U.S. fliers who had been forced down in the icy North Atlantic waters were rescued by a Canadian minesweeper after the 13-hour ordeal. In the group are Elinor Hall, Des Moines, Ia.; Herbert Schudler, Richmond, Va.; Kenneth Harland, Philadelphia, Pa.; Broad Summers, Marshall, Ore.; Edward Keatley, Atlanta, Ga.; Clifford Spradlin, Wichita, Kan.; Max Verber, Kellogg, Ia.; H. Dean, Fall River, Mass.; J. B. Crary, Canton, N.Y.; D. Horden, Salt Lake City, Utah.

America Has Its Own Secret Weapons, Some of Them Already Tested In Battle

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Navy's number one ordinance expert assured the country today that we have new secret weapons, some "fully comparable to the German radio controlled bomb and acoustic homing torpedoes," others even more amazing.

Moreover, these weapons have been in use for "many months," said Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance.

The new weapons, Blandy asserted at a press conference, are truly secret known neither to the American public nor to the enemy.

This latter situation, he explained, was made possible by the fact that when a navy loses a weapon it usually goes to the bottom of the ocean where the enemy can't capture and imitate it.

"We have one development," Blandy said, "that certain foreign scientists labeled impossible, but I can't even disclose its nature."

He emphasized the enormous increase in ordnance production as well as the development of new weapons. As an example, he said the increase in production of torpedoes since the start of the war was 4,000 per cent.

Ranking high in the achievements of the war, Blandy said, have been huge strides in anti-aircraft defenses of surface ships. Referring to predictions the big "battle wagons" would disappear after air attacks had sunk some of them, Blandy asserted "far from succumbing, naval ships have not only survived and multiplied but several new types have been developed."

Among the big secrets, Blandy said, are improvements in fire control. With equipment now used on all types of guns, both big and small, it is necessary only to take a sight of the target. All the necessary computation once done laboriously—and slowly—by human brain, now is executed in a flash by equipment which estimates the range and lead necessary for a moving target.

American successes in night battles against the Japanese in the Pacific "are partly due to this feature," Blandy said.

Asked if it was believed the Japanese also had developed secret weapons, Blandy replied: "We don't know of any.... however, we are not being complacent."

EIGHTH ARMY

coastal attack, fresh troops swarmed across the river, broadening and deepening the foothold in high ground.

By dark last night, the troops were said to have moved well along toward their first objectives, and at last reports the two bridgeheads were about eight miles apart. The artillery action on the Fifth army front appeared partly due to German nervousness, especially in the position beyond Venafro, the last mountain landmark to the plain reaching toward Rome. The high ground occupied by the Americans was slightly east of there.

While planes of the tactical air force threw all the strength they had into the support of the offensive at the front, American medium bombers launched a large-scale assault on Dubrovnik, Sibenik and Zara, German-held ports in Yugoslavia across the Adriatic.

Seven separate waves of Mitchell's hit Zara where fires and explosions raged in the inner harbor, rained bombs on five or six ships at Sibenik where the biggest attack of all was carried out, and hit a merchant ship, docks and military stores at Dubrovnik.

South African Spitfires shot up two trains between Dubrovnik and Metkovic.

"Widespread havoc and confusion" was caused among enemy troop concentrations, barracks and road traffic by American A-36 dive-bombers in the Rome area, an official report said. At least 10 trucks were destroyed, and many tank carriers, railway cars, four railway stations, power plants and radio stations were attacked.

The A-36's also bombed the harbor and freight yards at Anzio, south of Rome, the heavily-defended town of San Vittore near Frosinone, and the coastal railway northwest of Rome, while big guns on the outskirts of Rome thundered last night at RAF Wellingtons which scattered hundreds of fragmentation bombs among dispersed planes on two airfields at Ciampino and set hangars on burning.

Star's Doctor Succumbs

COLUMBUS, Nov. 29.—Dr. Frank Warner, 88, retired Columbus physician and surgeon, died last night. Film Actor Warner Baxter, whose birth he attended, was named for the Dr. Warner, a native of Ross county.

A "rubbish court" to try property owners and tenants who allow their premises to become littered has been established in Philadelphia.

Escapes Possible Death When Plane Hits House

MARTINS FERRY, Nov. 29.—Francis Reddy, 41, a civilian aviator, escaped with injuries when his monoplane crashed through the roof of a house near Colerain Sunday, causing a fire that destroyed the dwelling and plane.

Reddy extricated himself from the craft in the attic of the Albert Rindler home beside Route 250 as gasoline from the ship's tank became ignited. He stepped to a porch roof and descended a ladder brought by a neighbor. Reddy suffered facial burns and head lacerations.

As flames spread through the upper portion of the frame house, the Rindlers and neighbors carried out most of the furniture. Witnesses said Reddy, a tavern operator, was flying low before the accident.

Father, Two Children Die As Fire Razes Home

LIMA, Nov. 29.—Fire in a house purchased only a week ago suffocated Robert Bates, 35, and his children, Bobby Jr., 3 and Patricia Lee, 5, early Sunday. Mrs. Bates suffered shock and lacerations in breaking a bedroom window to escape the flames.

The three bodies were removed from a first floor bedroom before the house collapsed. The family lived two miles west of Lima. Fire Chief Harry Taftinger attributed the fire to electric wiring.

NAVY TAKES OVER NEW YORK PLANT

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The Navy today took possession of a part of the Remington Rand, Inc. factory at Southport, Chemung county, New York, in order to "expedite production and bring up to schedule an important war item."

The White House announced the action, issuing at the same time an executive order signed by President Roosevelt on Nov. 25 directing Secretary of the Navy Knox to "take possession of and operate that part of the plant of Remington Rand, Inc., known as the 'N' division of the Elmira plant."

"Possession of the premises referred to under this order will be terminated by the President within 60 days, after he determines that such plant will be operated privately in a manner consistent with the war effort," the President's order said.

The order did not state the reason for the action nor did it explain the kind of war materials produced at the plant.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

little news dispatches to come out of the war. It certainly is close to being a gesture of desperation which fits well with the declaration by Britain's two-fisted bomber chief, Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, that the holocaust which is sweeping the German capital is "the last lap of the race."

But we mustn't conclude from all this that the end is at hand. Air Marshal Harris, whom I know from personal acquaintance to be far-sighted and logical, doesn't claim this. He just says it's the last lap, and doesn't predict how long the lap will be. Berlin is to be bombed until it is dead.

WOULD THE DEATH of Berlin mean the end of the war? Not necessarily, but it's difficult to see how the German machine could keep going long with its capital smashed—for Berlin, quite apart from sentiment, is literally the heart of the Reich. It not only is one of the greatest industrial areas in the country, but it's the hub of the European railway system. Cripple Berlin and you've thrown a monkey-wrench into Hitler's entire continental set-up.

Moreover, the destruction of the capital, with its awful death roll, would be one of the fiercest blows public morale could receive.

Dr. Robert Ley, leader of the Nazi labor front, declares: "We shall never surrender. An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. Defense and revenge." Propaganda Minister Goebbels takes a similar heavy reprisal against Britain.

Likely revenge will be attempted by the Hitlerites, and they may indeed have a new "secret weapon" which they boast. I think we should also be prepared to see the reprisals take some barbaric form. However, the Germans no longer have within their power any reprisal which would win them the war, no matter how devilish the revenge might be.

As a matter of fact, while desire for revenge can be a powerful emotion, the slogan of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" doesn't provide the flaming sword of leadership needed by the Germans or any other civilized peoples. You've got to have more inspiration than just "revenge" to win world wars, and any government which tries to sustain public morale on that will come a cropper.

That's been one of Hitler's greatest weaknesses since the start of his attempt to conquer the world—lack of any high and inspiring purpose. His only justification for his aggression has been that might is right—and he had the might. It takes more than that to sustain a great nation as destruction rushes on it.

on their homeward flight and eight Japs were shot down and the other seven probably destroyed.

No ground action was reported on Bougainville, where the Americans have extended their beachhead, and on New Guinea, where the Australians have taken Sattelberg and its high plateau overlooking the possible invasion channel to New Britain.

The navy's construction gangs, the Seabees, were reported to have moved quickly onto the coral atolls of the Gilberts, secured last week by Marines and infantry.

The speed with which the Seabees were put on the job suggested the possible use of airfields in the Gilberts for early intensified bombing of the Jap-held Marshall group 350 miles to the north.

way, a bullet through the back of her head.

Neighbors reported hearing shots and screams between 9 and 9:30 p. m. the night before Thanksgiving.

Prosecutor John B. Hill and Sheriff W. H. Ichniowski said they had followed nearly all clues to a dead end and Hill said he would ask help from an outside detective if nothing worthwhile developed today.

Neighbors and sightseers cluttered automobile tracks and fingerprints—if any were left by the killer or killers—before officials could reach the farm after the bodies were discovered.

"The McCoy farm looked like a county fair when I got there," said Hill. "We just couldn't find a thing."

Relatives of the McCoy's offered to pay the cost of investigation by outsiders.

More than 1,800 persons attended the triple funeral Saturday.
